

BRADLEY'S SPEECH

Seconding Roosevelt's Nomination Was a Rouser.

BEST ORATORY AID AT THE CONVENTION.

Convention Hall, Chicago, Ill., June 23.—The speech of William O. Bradley, in seconding the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt, was the best oratorical effort of the convention. His voice carried to all parts of the Coliseum where Gov. Black and others could not be heard. His delivery was superb, and when he had finished the demonstration accorded him was greater than any other speaker received during the day. Yells of "Hurrah, for Old Kentucky," were heard from every portion of the immense hall, and with a great voice the Republicans declared that Bradley was "All right."

His speech follows:

The Republican party has made no mistakes; therefore, it has no apologies to offer. It has broken no promises; therefore, it enters no plea of confession and avoidance. It offers no guaranty for the future, save the record of its past.

It points to an enormously increased commerce at home and abroad. To free homes given to free people. To a war waged to drive the tyrant from Cuba, and a promise faithfully kept, to give to the army and navy, whose deeds of valor have added imperishable glory to American arms. To the erection of churches and schoolhouses, and the inauguration of civil government in the Philippines. To the universal prosperity now prevailing throughout the republic. To a generous system of pensioning provided for those who fought, and the families of those who died, that the Union might be preserved. To the gigantic rebellion of all time, courageously met and completely subdued. To the shackles of bondsmen in the coral flames of war, and to stars preserved, and yet others fixed, in the firmament of freedom.

We cannot stand at the base of Bunker Hill monument, as prophesied by Toombs, and call the roll of our slaves; but we can stand on any spot of the earth and call the long roll of Republican statesmen and soldiers—the most distinguished and illustrious that the nation has produced—who rendered impossible the fulfillment of that prediction.

Republicans' Record.

For nearly half a century the record of the Republican party has been so interwoven with the country's history that each is a part of the other, and neither can be written without including the other. Indeed, during that time the Republican party has been the corner stone of the nation.

In diplomacy, in progress, in the arts and sciences, in prosperity and adversity, in peace and war; at home and abroad, on land and sea, the Republican party has been true to every trust, equal to every emergency, has continually elevated and advanced the standard of American honor and glory, and now proclaims to the world that in the lexicon of patriotic endeavor and achievement there is no such word as "fail."

And during all those eventful years the Democratic party has related every step of advancement and progress. It has been a stupid objector, a miserable malcontent and a common scold. For two Presidential terms it administered public affairs, and during each crippled commerce, unsettled and decreased values, paralyzed industries, closed manufacturing, and made it necessary for public charity to provide food for the starving unemployed. It has exchanged its time-honored principles for dangerous heresies, and betrayed its leaders, until it is without a leader and in anxious search of a platform. It has abandoned its Moses and is unable to discover a Joshua. It does not certainly know what it wants; and if it did, it would not know where to find it. It does not know what it is for; and if it did, it would not know how to express it. It does not know what to do; and if it did, it would not know how to do it.

Stirring Appeal.

Men of the north, we come from the battlefield, consecrated to freedom with the blood of your brave sons. We are the custodians of your patriotic dead, and each year commemorate their deeds and decorate their graves with flowers. In their names and by their memories the disfranchised South appeals to your justice. Shall it be said that your sons fought and died in vain? Shall it be said that a nation can exist part slave and part free? Are people free who are forced to bear the burden and yet denied the night of citizenship? If it be true that warrant may not be found in the constitution to prevent disfranchisement, then we beg that you no longer permit the disfranchised and oppressed to be estimated for the purpose of increasing the electoral strength of their oppressors.

Though the grape is crushed and the grain is ground, they produce neither wine nor bread for the persecuted men of the South. We have not forgotten how, when the war clouds hung dark in the nation's horizon he sacrificed office and left a happy home and a beloved wife and children, to bare his bosom in the storm of battle. The same patriotism and courage that inspired him then has animated him throughout his administration. When others stood appalled in the presence of the great strike he cheerfully, and with alacrity, assumed responsibility and officially conspired upon him, and bravely springing into the breach, succeeded in procuring a settlement that brought tranquility to the representatives of capital, and smiles and sunshine into the faces and homes of the humble laborers.

Battle With Trusts.

He unhesitatingly measured swords with the giant corporation which threatened the people with wrong and oppression, and brought it into subjection. He knows how and when to plan, and, better still, how and when to execute. Alert of mind, he has quickly seized every opportunity. In the procurement of concessions for the Panama canal he accomplished more in a few hours than his predecessors accomplished in more than a hundred years. He did not attempt to unloose; he cut the Gordian knot. His enemies say that he cannot be trusted; but the people know that one who always does the right thing at the right time and in the way, is entitled to their implicit confidence.

His enemies say that he is unsafe. His record proves that he is unsafe only to the lawless, the trickster, the grater and those who deny equal protection of the law to any class of American citizens. But in the discharge of the great trusts devolved upon him, he has proven a harbor of safety.

His enemies predicted that he would involve the nation in war; but all his victories have been those of diplomacy and peace, and today he enjoys the respect and friendship of every foreign power.

Is a Great.

He has not been the pliable instrument of any man or set of men. He is the creator not the creature of public sentiment. He is not controlled by popular clamor, but he is to the line, let the chips fall where they may. He is not a lagger, a time-server or an idle-dreamer. He loses no opportunity on account of timid doubts or annoying hesitation. He is not a follower, but every inch a leader. He is not an imitator, but thoroughly original, guided alone by a clear conception of right and the genius of common sense.

He boldly and fearlessly advances; he never sounds the retreat. Imbued with never failing courage, combined with a sound and vigorous judgment; brilliant as a meteor yet steady and certain as the sun in its course; gifted with broad and intelligent statesmanship; fixed in lofty purpose, he is the embodiment of American ideas, American vigor and the most exalted type of American manhood.

He was born to fulfill a mission. That mission in part accomplished will be completed in coming years, and his name shall go ringing down the centuries with those of the immortal few who were not born to die.

In Kentucky we have contended against the principalities and powers and the rulers of darkness. We have, in truth, fought with all manner of beast, not at Ephesus—but at Frankfort. We are serving ourselves for the coming conflict, and in November next hope to break the chains which partisan legislation has thrown around us and restore freedom to the State which gave birth to Abraham Lincoln and holds within its bosom the ashes of Henry Clay.

WILL BE ONE BLAZE OF LIGHT.

San Francisco to be the Most Brilliantly Illuminated City in the World.

A faint idea may be formed what the illumination of San Francisco's streets will be during Conclave week, when the lowest bid for the plant is $53,000, and the cost for the current $25,000, and that in the face of the keenest competition. San Francisco during the past two years has acquired the reputation of being the best illuminated city, and has given proof that no city in the world is so favored for a brilliant display at all seasons. Because of the praise bestowed, the citizens have determined to improve on their former efforts. Because the highest wages are paid, San Francisco commands the best there is in skilled labor and mechanical talent, though all else is as reasonable, if not more so, than anywhere else. Over 150,000 lamps and over 10,000 Chinese and Japanese lanterns, of all shapes, sizes and colors, are to be used in the illumination. The main thoroughfares of the city will be covered by one canopy of light, while the intersections of the principal streets will be transformed into courts of honor, shedding a dazzling light upon the entire surroundings. Union Square, in the very heart of the business district of the city, is to be made the center of attraction, because of its favorable location, size and facilities for making the most brilliant display ever seen. The square is to be surrounded by a colonnade of ornamental pillars, while within the square, and surrounding the Dewey monument, will be a smaller palisade of columns. These will be connected by strings bearing innumerable lamps, and woven in fantastic shapes. One thousand Chinese lanterns with glowing bulbs within, will shed a softer light upon the multitude. The center of the entire structure will rear its head far above the earth, supported by strong cables which will be fastened to the tall buildings facing the square. A similar court of honor, though loftier, if not quite so broad and long, will be constructed at the intersection of Market, Kearny, Geary and Third streets. Strings of lighted electric lamps, gracefully looped, will stretch from curb to curb, about thirty feet above the ground, and make the night brighter than day.

THEO. WATTS ROBBED.

Some one pulled up and destroyed about fifty dollars worth of ginseng plants from the ginseng bed of Theo. Watts, on Railroad street, one night recently. The thieves pulled up the plants, cut the tops off and made way with the roots. The greatest loss to Mr. Watts was the seed, as the plants were bearing seed at the time. There is no clue to the guilty parties.

Two men were killed and several wounded in a construction train wreck between Jellico and Knoxville Monday.

A SCORCHER.

Month of July Will be a Hot One With Numerous Thunder Storms

AND BUT LITTLE RAIN.

A summary of the weather conditions for July, as figured out by Rev. Irl R. Hicks, follows:

This month begins in the last stage of a storm period central on June the 29th. Storm and perturbations of this period will be well on their way toward the Atlantic by the 1st and 2nd, with fair and cooler weather following from the west.

A reactionary storm period is central from the 4th to the 6th. As the Moon is on the celestial equator on the 4th, we may reasonably calculate on a decided rise in temperature, ending in thunder and rain storms during these reactionary days.

If the general tendency is to excessive heat and light rains from the 4th to 6th, and from the 9th to 14th, it will be safe to count on a predominance of such weather nearly or quite up to September.

Upon the other hand, should cooler weather and general rains and storms be the rule at these periods, much of the same kind of weather will characterize all the storm periods for the following six or eight weeks.

About the 11th to 14th, the central dates of the second July storm period, no one should be surprised by a wave of excessive warm weather, culminating in many threatening storms and violent dangerous blustering.

Heavy hail storms, especially to the west and north, will most likely attend these disturbances, in which event temporary change to much cooler may naturally be expected.

On and touching the 17th, 18th and 19th warm wave with threatening storm clouds and some rain and hail.

A regular Vulcan storm period covers the 21st to the 24th. Another very warm wave, attended by storm conditions, with some rain and severe bluster, may be expected. A brief partial respite from great warmth will probably succeed the disturbances of this period.

On and touching the 27th and 28th reactionary storm conditions will return with more than ordinary intensity.

Great warmth will, in every probability, reach a climax on and next to these dates. This is also a time when many seismic disturbances may naturally be expected—probably not dangerous or destructive in any place, but quite general along the sensitive earthquake zones of the globe.

Of Frankfort, rather of Dr. C. B. Johnson, of this City. Falls heir to Masonic Library.

F. H. Johnson, of Frankfort, Ky., who is the father of Dr. O. B. Johnson, of this city, falls heir to the magnificent Masonic library of Judge J. Soule Smith, of Lexington, recently deceased. Judge Smith's will was probated last Saturday and the Masonic library that he has been collecting for years and one of the finest in the State was bequeathed to his friend and admirer, F. H. Johnson. It is not known just what the value of the library is but it is a very valuable one and is highly prized by the present owner.

McGARY AND TWYMAN

Will Manage Temple Theatre for the Coming Season.

At a meeting of the directors of the Masonic Temple Co., Monday evening the plans for the coming season were discussed and a contract arranged with Messrs. W. S. McGary and Jno. W. Twyman to manage the Temple Theatre for the coming season. Mr. McGary, who has up to this time had charge of the house since it was built, has already booked a number of good attractions for the fall and winter and McGary and Twyman, as the new managers, will make a supreme effort to render the next season the banner year for the house and its patrons.

The contract made with them is mutual in its terms and they will receive at all times the cordial support and assistance of the Temple company officers and directors.

Breaking Camp.

The party of campers consisting of W. S. McGary and wife, H. L. Browning and wife, Mrs. Stevens, Misses Nellie Carlin and Minnie Bourland, who have been located at "New Point Comfort," on Loch Mary, for the past two weeks, came back to town Monday. The two weeks' sojourn did them all good and they left with regret.

It is reported that they were so overcome with the thought of leaving the beautiful camping place and still more beautiful surroundings Monday evening, that they walked in their sleep Sunday night carrying with them a bucket of ice cold lemonade and a dipper. They strolled up the hill about midnight to another party of campers and wandered into the tent. The sleeping inmates were roused from their peaceful dreams by sweet strains of music mixed with dashes of cold lemonade. Finally the whole party became thoroughly awakened and had a good time for an hour or more. Mrs. McGary rendered several difficult instrumental pieces on the piano with delicate touch and in perfect time (as far as we knew) and Walter electrified the crowd by singing "On Broadway in Dahomy Bye and Bye."

Good Work.

We were fortunate in seeing some of the drawing done by the children of W. D. Caviness this week and it is excellent. These children are taught by the sisters of the Catholic school at this place and they, as well as quite a number of others, are making rapid advances in drawing, music and other branches. The drawings, especially, show considerable talent for pupils so young and, with persistence and close application, there is nothing impossible in some of them becoming artists.

Big Shoot.

The Earlinton Gun Club will, sometime between July 10th and 15th, give a shooting exhibition at their grounds in this city. The club expects to make it the event of the season and there will be several crack shots from all over the state present. The exact date and arrangements will be announced later.

Freak of Nature.

A most remarkable freak of nature will be exhibited by the A. O. U. W. and W. O. W. at the fair grounds, Madisonville, on July 4th. It is a horse with eight well developed legs and the only one of its kind on record. This freak will doubtless prove a drawing card for this date.

JAS. A. McKENZIE DEAD.

Distinguished Kentuckian Buried at Bowling Green.

HIGH MASONIC HONORS ACCORDED THE DECEASED.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 25.—The Hon. James A. McKenzie, one of Kentucky's most distinguished citizens, former Congressman and United States Minister to Peru, died at 5:35 o'clock this morning, at his home, near Oak Grove, this county. Apoplexy was the cause of death. Thursday he was feeling as well as usual, and in the morning superintended work in his wheat field and walked to Oak Grove for his mail. He ate heartily at dinner. Several hours later, as he sat on his porch conversing with his family, the stroke came, and it was realized from the first that his condition was serious. He was given prompt medical attention and tenderly nursed, but he sank gradually to the end. He suffered little, and passed away peacefully.

Mr. McKenzie had a national reputation as an orator and humorist. He was the author of the Quinine Bill, and in his most famous speech literally laughed out of Congress the effort to restore the tax on quinine, and won for himself the sobriquet of "Quinine Jim."

Mr. McKenzie was born August 1, 1840, near Bennetstown. His father, William Washington McKenzie, came here from North Carolina, and his mother, Mrs. Isabella Ewing McKenzie, was an aunt of former Vice President Adlai E. Stevenson. After attending county schools and Centre College, at Danville, he taught school several years. In 1860 he went to Texas and studied law. He entered the Eighth Texas cavalry at the beginning of the Civil War, and served in the ranks until his health gave way and he was honorably discharged.

Mr. McKenzie returned to Kentucky and was married August 16, 1864, to Mrs. Amelia C. Blakey. He served in the Kentucky Legislature from 1867 to 1871. In 1872 he was Democratic elector from the State-at-large. In 1876 he was elected to Congress from the Second district, and was re-elected to the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Congresses. His famous speech on quinine was delivered on January 31, 1883, the year that his term in Congress expired. He returned home to become Secretary of State under Gov. Proctor Knott. He was three times delegate-at-large to National Democratic Conventions, and his speeches attracted widespread attention.

The remains of Mr. McKenzie were given burial with Masonic honors in a vault in Fairview Cemetery, Bowling Green, on Monday. The Grand Lodge of Kentucky, of which Mr. McKenzie was a Past Grand Master, conducted the ceremonies.

Triumphs of Modern Surgery.

Wonderful things are done for the human body by surgery. Organs are taken out and replaced and polished and put back, or they may be removed entirely; bones are spliced; pipes take the place of diseased sections of veins; antiseptic dressings are applied to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, which causes them to heal without maturation and in one-third the time required by the old treatment. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts upon this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering which such injuries entail.

"I don't think we could keep house without Theodor's Black-Draught. We have used it in the family for over two years with the best of results. I have not had a doctor's bill for that length of time. It is a doctor in itself and always ready to make a person well and happy."—JAMES HALL, Jacksonville, Ill.

Making Money

By Getting "More Goods for the Same Money--Same Goods for Less Money."

WHEN We come right down to dollars and cents, very few people are in business for health. The BIG STORE is no sanitarium—it is a store chock full of up-to-date merchandise; conducted in a fair and square manner; founded on the motto of "Being Square if it makes us Round Shouldered."

We are calling special attention this week to our showing of thin, sheer dress fabrics.

CAMPING OUT.

BLUET G. BARD.

Lots of fun camping out,
Happy all day long,
Listening to the bull-frogs croak
And the bird's sweet song.

Feel just fine camping out,
Sleep so well at night;
Fellow's hungry all the time,
Eat everything in sight.

Don't get sick camping out,
No doctor's bill to pay;
Breathe the pure country air,
With scent of new mown hay.

Life seems brighter camping out,
Contentment in the breeze;
Love to watch the children play
Among the walnut trees.

Feel so free camping out,
Sing loud as you please,
No one there to hear you
But the lake and trees.

Food is better camping out,
Can't get enough to eat;
Wouldn't touch fast meat in town,
Now we think it's sweet.

Fish, sometimes, camping out,
When the sign is right;
When it's not, no use to try,
Darned old fish won't bite.

Take boat rides camping out,
When the moon shines bright,
Finest sport ever was
On the lake at night.

Don't get lonely camping out,
Friends come in a drove;
If the tent won't hold them,
Go to the walnut grove.

Rains, sometimes, camping out,
And the guy ropes pop;
Don't care, tho', if they do,
Know it's bound to stop.

Don't get lonely camping out,
Life's a one glad, sweet song;
Only thing makes me sad,
Know it can't last long.

MINING NOTES.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., June 25.—Reliable information states that John H. Durand and L. M. Lawson, representing Pennsylvania capitalists, have closed a deal with Leslie county people for 32,000 acres of coal and timber lands in Knott, Pike and Leslie counties and as soon as the papers are all signed will begin active operations. Three mines will be opened in different parts of the territory and two mills will be erected, one a saw and stave mill and the other a planing mill. The lands are located along the route of the proposed railroad through that section and are said to be among the richest mineral and timber lands in Eastern Kentucky. The price paid is said to have been $12 an acre. The lands have been much sought after by investors, and when the Chesapeake & Ohio began the erection of the road to Paintsville the Pennsylvania people went after the property in earnest. When the coal mines contemplated are opened a territory which is conceded to be the richest in the State will be opened. Experts say the supply of cannel and bituminous coal in that section is inexhaustible and that within a few weeks a number of options now held by Eastern people will be closed.

The editor of the Manufacturers' Record has recently compiled very interesting statistics about the production of bituminous coal in the South. He says:

"In 1859-60 the total bituminous coal production of the United States was 5,700,000 tons. As late as 1879-80 it was 42,000,000 tons, of which 6,000,000 tons was the output of the Southern States. Last year the output was 290,000,000 tons, and the output of the South 62,000,000 tons, or ten times the South's output in 1880, and more than ten times as much as the total of the United States in 1859-60, and 50 per cent., or 20,000,000 tons, more than that of the United States only 24 years ago, or in 1879-80.

"These facts indicate something of the amazing advancement of the coal industry of the United States. In 1859 with a population of 50,000,000 our output was about three-quarters of a ton per capita; today with 80,000,000 people our output is 280,000,000 tons or $\frac{3}{4}$ tons per capita. This accelerating rate of growth, added to the increase in population, will give us within the next ten years an output of probably at least 500,000,000 tons.

"These figures give some conception of the advancement of this country in coal consumption. The temporary dullness of today must in the near future, by reason of the enormous increase in population, in wealth, and in manufacturing interests, be followed by a return of activity which shall exceed that of the last four or five years just as far as that exceeded the previous burst of industrial development."

It is reported that the Wheatcroft Coal and Mining company has decided to install an electric plant and electric machines in their mines at Wheatcroft, Webster county, Ky., and are now in correspondence with firms furnishing such equipments.

At some point in the vicinity of Henderson J. L. Nicholson will begin boring for coal in the next few days. The diamond drill for doing this work was shipped from Pennsylvania a few days ago and is expected to reach Henderson today. Messrs. Gay, father and son, of Punxtown, Pa., arrived in Henderson Sunday afternoon. They will direct the drilling after the work has begun. Mr. Nicholson when he came to Henderson stated that he would sink a new shaft and all this time has been collecting valuable data concerning the various strata of coal.—Gleaner.

RICH SEIZURE BY TREASURY AGENTS

Upwards of Ten Thousand Dollars' Worth of Oriental Treasures Captured.

WERE FOUND SECRETED ON BOARD BRITISH STEAMER INDRAWADI.

The Goods Were Found in Forty-seven Cases, Secreted in Various Parts of the Ship After the Cargo Had Been Unloaded—No One Lays Claim to Them.

New York, June 29.—Treasurer of the orient, contained in 47 cases, have been found secreted on the British steamship Indrawadi by treasury agents. The seizure is valued at more than $10,000, and is the largest of the kind ever made in this port. Besides bolts of silk, there were many cases containing Chinese antiquities, and curios, which were taken from the palace and temples at the time of the occupation of Chinese territory by foreign troops.

Treasury Agents on Watch. For some time past special treasury agents who watch the invoices of all vessels have noticed that at certain Japanese and Chinese ships there were articles for sale that were out of the ordinary run of goods found at such places, and they began to watch the ships which might bring such goods. After the Indrawadi's manifest had been checked off and the cargo unloaded, the treasury agents visited the crew's quarters, where they found several men making attempts to sleep in bunks that looked overcrowded. The men were routed out and from beneath mattresses the officers took box after box of the finest silk handkerchiefs, hand-embroidered in exquisite designs. In the carpenter's room they found a huge box all tied up and ready for shipment, which, when opened revealed a remarkable collection of curios. There were pieces of finely-carved ivory, small idols in gold, and silver, and pieces of dainty chinaware were tucked neatly away, throughout the box.

Behind a False Partition. The agents made a thorough search from stem to stern. They came upon what was apparently a false partition, which they tore away and found within 42 cases containing tea sets and vases, peacock and ostrich feathers and Chinese screens of the rarest pattern, valued at several hundred dollars each. The officers of the ship expressed surprise that such things could have come aboard without their knowledge, and they expressed their willingness to aid in the capture of the guilty persons.

No One Claims the Goods. Nobody on the ship would claim a single thing, so no arrests were made. The goods will be held for a time and then will be sold at public auction.

CAME AS A BOMBSHELL.

Edmund Bersch Attacks a Plea of Guilty to Bribery at St. Louis—Others May Follow Suit.

St. Louis, June 28.—Edward Bersch cast a bomb as heavily charged as the last supreme court decision into the ranks of the boodlie element, Monday, when he charged a plea of guilty to the charge of bribery in the city light-house case, and threw his weight on the mercy of Judge McDonald.

The plea was entered after an indirect appeal to Circuit Attorney Folk. The appeal was simply an effort to learn how much time Mr. Folk would wait on, and when the circuit attorney declined to make any promise, Bersch took the next best step and threw himself on the mercy of the court.

It is stated that still more sensational events are to follow, and from a reliable source it is claimed that even now some of the small fry, who for so long have stood rock-like and faced the music, are ready and willing to turn state's evidence and give Circuit Attorney Folk the information on which he expects to land some of the big fellows.

It is reliably stated that immediately after Bersch's plea that former Assistant Circuit Attorney Charles F. Krone entered into a consultation with Folk on behalf of Charles F. Kelly and Charles A. Gutzke, and in his statement to Judge McDonald, begging for time for the two men, Krone openly declared that he did not think either man would go to trial.

ACCEPT THEIR SENTENCES

Lehmann and Hartmann, the St. Louis hoodlums, Make No Move For a Rehearing.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 26.—Julius Lehmann and Emil Hartmann have evidently decided to accept the sentences of the supreme court and make no further fight. Friday was the last day for their attorneys to file a motion for a rehearing of their cases, and no such motion was filed in the supreme court. No appeal can now be taken, and the impression is that they will abide by the sentence of the court.

COLORED COLUMN

EDITED BY J. H. GOUGH.

Mrs. Solomon, the matron of Atkinson college, worshipped at Zion church Sunday. At the Sunday school she spoke some very encouraging words to the children. At 3 p. m. she delivered an excellent and well prepared address on "Home Life." Mrs. B. C. Childress made an able response to the paper. Prompt at 7:30 the choir and congregation opened services with the regular order and several of the children performed their part on the rostrum, after which Mrs. L. Handcock read an interesting paper on "Education," and Prof. E. Poston, of Hopkinsville, spoke on the same subject in a very fitting manner, which kept his audience wondering what he would say next. Mrs. Solomon talked on the needs of Atkinson college and its great work, which inspired each parent to do more for the institution. Such talks as came from the lips of Prof. Poston and Mesdames Handcock and Solomon are some among the many things our people need, and such persons are always welcome in any community of good people.

J. Bogger's beautiful home caught fire one day last week. The loss was small. The cause of the fire is yet unknown.

The trustees of Atkinson college were called to meet at the college Tuesday by the president, Bishop G. W. Clinton D. D.

Messrs. Whitten Eaves and S. D. Dunlap visited St. Charles, Nortonville and other adjacent points Saturday in the interest of the picnic on July 4th.

The annual session of the W. M. of A. will convene today. Many strangers present. The annual picnic will take place Saturday at Lakeside Park.

All parents will please have their children ready for the procession July 4th and at the colored Odd Fellows' hall by 9 o'clock without fail. Let every child in Earlington turn out. The children are all invited. Those we have seen and those we have not seen will have a place in the march. This invitation is extended to the people of Hecla also. Be sure and be on time.

The committees have arranged everything for the visitors to please them on this great 4th. Come and enjoy yourselves. The children concert before noon. Speaking by some of the best talent of the county. A barrel and potato race in the afternoon. Other amusements also to enliven the occasion. Don't forget the spelling bee between Ky. and Tenn. at the white Masonic hall at night. We have already received several petitions from both sides. See Prof. Robertson and Tenn. I. H. Edmundson.

Those on the sick list are: Mesdames Emma Watkins, Lula Sutton, and Mr. Johnson.

Rev. W. G. W. Clinton, of N. C., the Presiding Bishop of the 6th Episcopal District, will preach at the Zion church Sunday evening at 7:30 p. m. The public is invited to come out and hear this great preacher.

EARLINGTON MILITARIAN WILL MARCH ACROSS COUNTRY

For a Day's Camping Experience in Heavy Marching Order.

The officers of Company G, the Earlington Company of State Guards, have been planning a cross country march and a day's camping experience and drill for the rapidly maturing soldiers. Capt. Price, said yesterday that the company would move in heavy marching order to some convenient point perhaps four or five miles in the country. Here the boys will pitch their dog tents and camp for the day under usual military discipline and march home again in the evening. This is reported as a valuable lesson to the newly drilled company and a good experience to have before going into annual encampment at St. Louis in August. The boys of Company G are all very enthusiastic and never miss an opportunity to learn more and drill better.

CROP BULLETIN.

Kentucky Crops in Good Condition and Fruit Plentiful.

Louisville, Ky., June 28.—Maj. H. B. Hersey, Section Director for the Government Agricultural Department in Kentucky, today gave out the following report for week ending June 27:

The temperature averaged slightly above the normal during the week. The rainfall coming in local showers, was unevenly distributed, some localities having good rains and others very little.

The wheat harvest progressed well and is nearly completed in the Western Section. The acreage is considerably below the average, but the yield and quality promise to be very good.

The setting of tobacco was about completed during the week and the plants are making a good growth. The acreage will be less than usual.

Corn made a rapid growth and is looking well, but will be late. It has been well worked and some early fields have been laid by.

Oats have headed low and will not make a full crop. Rye is looking well.

Irish potatoes and gardens look promising, but need more rain. Hemp is making a good growth. Peaches and apples are doing fairly well, though there is some complaint of apples falling off. Blackberries give promise of a good crop. Cherries are ripe and quite good.

Some hay has been cut, the yield is generally below the average and quality poor on account of weeds; this is especially true of timothy hay. Pastures are in fair condition, but need rain in many localities.

Farm work is well up and crops generally well cultivated.

KENTUCKY CHAUTAUQUA

Opened at Owensboro Tuesday.

The Kentucky Chautauqua Assembly for the eighteenth successive year opened its gates Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock for its annual meeting, and for two days the public will enjoy delightful outdoor life. The beautiful Woodland Park, where the Chautauqua is being held, is one of the most picturesque spots in the State. The giant trees which spread their shade over the grounds make it a most pleasant and attractive place for tenting. Many social gayeties have been planned for the two weeks, especially among the young people, who will entertain almost daily with luncheons, teas and other informal gatherings. The program this year is one of the most interesting during the history of the Assembly.

NEWS FROM NEBO.

Hot and dry. Crops will soon begin to suffer for rain.

Wheat harvest is about over and while the acreage was small the yield has been fine, probably as good a crop as was ever made in this locality. Corn is not doing as well as could be desired. A small crop of tobacco, but we are informed it is growing nicely. The hay crop, while not as fine as last year, is fair. Gardens never were better. Come down and we will feed you on beans and "taters."

The branch railroad from Nebo to the Rose creek coal mines is rapidly approaching completion.

A number of our citizens went to Dixon Friday and returned with stomachs filled to their utmost capacity. It is said that a waiter at the hotel where they feasted remarked of one man (who happened to be rather slender): "Good Lord! That man shoudn't be used to havin' 'nuff to eat. I believe he put some in his pocket."

W. S. Rutherford went to Madisonville Saturday to be present at the Hustler drawing.

Mrs. Jennie Fuller, of Hopkinsville, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Barnett.

Mrs. M. A. Mitchell, of the Island, visited her brother, R. S. Hill, the past week, returning home Saturday.

Mrs. Willie Mitchell, formerly of Earlinton, is very low with consumption. But little hope is entertained of her recovery.

Uncle Bud Hill, who, with his grandchildren, has been visiting in Nebo, returned home Saturday.

Misses Mabel Hobgood and Emma Hill paid a flying visit to Providence last week. While there they were the guests of Prof. Ferguson.

Miss Tat Fike went to Richmond last week.

Miss Allie Campbell, who has been in Madisonville for some time, came home Saturday.

A young lady with a first class certificate would like to obtain a school. For further information address E. Nebo.

One evening last week while delivering goods M. T. Winstead's horse became frightened and started to run. His son, Willie, had hold of the horse and held for a time, but had to turn him loose, and it took for a short time as if we might have a "heluva" time, but he was stopped.

There seems to be a sneak thief loose. Several people complain of having lost small sums of money recently. We hereby give notice that we have taken our two coppers out of the clock and put them in the bank.

Uncle Dick Key has had his house repainted.

A rumor of a wedding in the near future.

Eudaley & Morrow have prized and shipped 104 hogheads of tobacco and have about 200 to prize yet.

B. C. James, of Webster county, came to Nebo last week and surveyed the streets. Several parties had put their fences in the street, some had placed them as much as 10 feet over the line, others had actually built their houses in the street. The trustees of the town say they must be moved back. Much dissatisfaction is expressed by parties who have to move back.

It has been reported that the town council is going to pass an ordinance compelling property owners to lay brick pavements.

Be Punctual.

Nelson once said: "I owe all my success in life to having always been a quarter of an hour before my time." His attention to every detail in his life was also celebrated. In this respect Wellington was like him. The condition of his soldiers' shoes, their horse fodder and their camp kettles was not beneath the constant attention of the Iron Duke. Punctuality and attention to details seem trivial and unnecessary to some boyish minds, but heroes think of these matters and know their importance.

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS

The L. and N. made a fast run between Nashville and Bowling Green with a special this week. The distance is seventy-three miles and the trip was made in seventy-nine minutes, including a six minute stop at Franklin for water. Deducting the stop the train ran a mile a minute. This time is as fast as any made by the lines north of the Ohio river, and shows that the L. and N. has as good track and equipment as any line in the country. —Louisville Times.

The retiring official will devote his time to his vast lumber interests in Louisiana.

Freight engine No. 10, with three cars attached, ran wild along the main track of the Illinois Central railroad from Cecilia to Vine Grove last week. Through the prompt work of telegraph operators, freight train No. 152 and passenger train No. 153 were side tracked at West Point in time to prevent any mishap.

The train had been left at Cecilia, while the train crew, consisting of Joe Millet, engineer; Frank Hammond, conductor; the fireman and three section hands went to supper. In some unknown manner the throttle worked loose and as one of the men returned he saw the train speeding away. The operators along the road were immediately notified and had the tracks cleared, the two trains which were on the track being sided at West Point. The runaway went over the rails at a high rate of speed for a great distance, but on nearing Vine Grove the engine slowed down and came to a dead stop in almost the same sudden manner in which it started.

George Martin and J. C. Menner, car repairers at the Howell shops, were peculiarly injured at about the same time on the same day on the head. Mr. Martin had the misfortune to have a casting of some kind of fall when he was removing a brace, striking him on the head and cutting a gash at least an inch long. Mr. Menner was testing air on a car in the yard. The test hose and the air hose on the car became disconnected so that the hose on the car flew around and struck him on the head, making a gash about a half an inch long.

AGREEMENT IN TOBACCO, 1904.

Authoritative Statement Made From Government Statistics.

Increase in Burleigh—Decrease in Dark Grade.

In a preliminary statement published by the Crop Reporter the facts below are deducted from reports made by a large corps of government correspondents.

The Reporter says in part:

The situation in the tobacco industry has been rendered more than ordinarily obscure by the fact that in practically all the important tobacco counties the season has been from ten days to two weeks late and weather conditions have been unfavorable for the growth of plants in the beds and for transplanting them to the fields. The present outlook, however, may be greatly modified by future developments.

Taking a general view of the whole country, it appears that the tobacco acreage in the Burleigh District, which embraces certain counties of Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, and West Virginia, will be considerably larger than that planted last year. The good prices received for last year's crop, the reduced stocks and the present very high prices of this type of tobacco are assigned as the chief cause for the increase.

A slight increase is reported also for the eastern Ohio county producing export tobacco, a limited area in Virginia.

sun-cured tobacco.

On the other hand marked reduction of acreage is reported from the following sections: The cigar tobacco sections of New England, New York, Wisconsin, and the sun-grown tobacco area of Gadsden County, Fla., and Decatur County, Ga.; the dark tobacco counties of western Kentucky, Tennessee, and Virginia; and the bright-tobacco counties of eastern Northern Carolina and South Carolina.

A slight decrease in acreage is reported for Pennsylvania and for the bright belt of Virginia.

The low prices received for last year's crop by the producers of these types, the high price of cotton, scarcity of labor and a late and unfavorable season are the principal reasons suggested for the decrease.

The acreage in the following sections is reported to be about the same as that planted last year. The Miami Valley district of Ohio, producing cigar tobacco; the shade-grown tobacco area of Florida and Georgia; the "Old Belt" counties in North Carolina.

Chewing, Smoking, and Export Types.

1. The Burleigh District.—The remarkably high prices of Burleigh tobacco for the past few months, the continued active demand for all grades, and the very limited stocks on hand have all contributed to cause an increase in acreage, and this influence is noticeable throughout the whole district. On the other hand, the season has been very late and the plants are backward, and in some sections injured by insects; transplanting was not begun before May 25th, and a scarcity of labor is reported from many localities. The available new ground suitable for this type of tobacco is becoming more and more limited each year.

2. Region of Dark Tobacco.—Conditions in the dark districts of western Kentucky and Tennessee are in marked contrast to those reported for the Burleigh district. From present indications it appears that the acreage will be reduced 25 to 30 per cent in western Kentucky, and probably quite as much or more in Tennessee. Low prices, the present unsatisfactory condition of the market both at home and abroad, and a late unfavorable season are assigned as the principal causes for the decrease.

The Henderson District reports a reduction of 25 per cent in Henderson County, and probably 25 to 30 per cent in the district. Season late; plants probably sufficient, but small. No transplanting until May 26, when about 10 per cent of the crop was planted. Not more than 20 per cent was set out by June 1. Usually 25 to 50 per cent set in May. Favorable conditions next fifteen days might bring the crop almost up to the average for this section. Low prices in dark tobacco and conditions in Great Britain resulting from the new duty on strips have caused the decrease in acreage in the dark district.

The Hopkinsville District reports a decrease of 20 to 25 per cent. The season is backward and the weather had been cool and dry until the recent rains afforded opportunity for transplanting a large proportion of the crop. Plants scarce and very small. Labor deserting farms for cotton fields, mines, quarries, and railroad work, thus leaving the tobacco planters in short of help. There is a widespread discontent on the part of planters on account of low prices, the large quantity of tobacco still unsold, and the unsatisfactory labor conditions.

The Paducah District reports a decrease of 30 to 40 per cent. Plants late and planting not yet commenced. But a small quantity of seed was sown, and with all conditions favorable from this time on the decrease indicated above seems probable. An effort has been made in many localities to secure the cooperation of planters to reduce the acreage.

The Clarksville District in Tennessee reports a decrease of 20 to 30 per cent. The season is later than usual, not more than 2 per cent of crop having been transplanted. Plants are in fair supply for area intended, but delayed by cold spring. Rain has been badly needed. Labor is scarce, due to emigration to cotton fields, and food products high. Planters are discouraged over the dark tobacco crop.

FINE WHEAT CROP.

Prices Near the 50 Cent Mark for New Wheat—Harvesting in Western Kentucky.

The wheat harvest in Christian county will be finished this week, unless retarded by more rain, says the Hopkinsville Correspondent. There is already some complaint, but no serious damage has resulted and the crop is one of the best ever raised in the county. The price also bids fair to be much better than usual. For once, a good crop and a satisfactory price promise to give the farmers a chance to recoup the losses on tobacco.

The wheat situation all over the country is favorable.

Mr. J. C. Brown, statistician of the New York Produce Exchange (the Department of Agriculture making no quantitative estimate) figures that the promise is for a winter wheat crop of 365,827,000 bushels, which is 34,000,000 bushels below the 1903 yield.

The department starts its spring wheat reports with a condition of 93.4, which on a given area of 17,140,000 acres indicates a crop of 291,894,000 bushels—a total that has but twice been exceeded. Taking the combined figures of winter and spring wheat we have a total harvest outlook of 657,021,000 bushels, which compares with last year's total yield of 627,821,835 bushels, and has been but twice exceeded, namely, by the harvest of 1902, 1901 and 1898.

These estimates indicate a smaller yield than any year for four years except 1903 and prices are bound to remain firm.

No purchases of the new crop have yet been made in Hopkinsville. Eighty cents has been offered for early delivery, but no sales have been reported. This is 10 cents higher than last year's opening price. The local mills have a consuming capacity of about 5,000 bushels a day and there will be a ready market for the entire crop of the county.

Threshing will probably not begin until next week. The farmers will be slow to begin while the weather is unsettled.

Preventive for Hog Cholera.

Not long ago we lost a number of hogs from cholera. An old friend came to see us just after the plague had run its course, and when he heard of our loss, he told us how he had managed for years to keep his swine in perfect health, even when cholera was an epidemic in his neighborhood. All through the year he once or twice a week would feed to each hog an ear of corn which had been smeared with freshly run pine tar. At first they would not eat it readily, but soon acquired a liking to the taste.—Exchange.

A prominent wheat grower of the county says that the yield of wheat per acre in this county would be much better than last year. The stalks are thin on the ground but the heads are very long and are filled out wonderfully, the grain being as good as ever seen. There are a few crops that will make thirty bushels to the acre.

ALL THE WORLD IS KIN.

One Touch of Nature at the World's Fair Proves an Old Saying.

St. Louis, June 28.—That the Indian is not void of sympathy was demonstrated at the Indian School at the World's Fair the other day. Accompanied by teachers, several pupils of the deaf and blind school visited the Indian School. At the north entrance they met a Sioux squaw with her papoose on her back and leading an old child.

The sign language used by the teacher in describing the mother and children to her charges was amazing to the Indian. By signs the teacher made clear the sad affliction of her charges, and their eagerness to know more, and see, in the only way possible for them, a real Indian. Immediately the Indian knelt, and taking the hand of each pupil she placed in it the hand of her two children.

Her own eyes filled with tears as she fondly patted each little visitor on the head, expressing, in the only manner she knew how, the sorrow she felt for them. The eyes of many of the spectators who witnessed the scene were filled with tears at this exhibition of kindness and expression of sorrow and desire to grant the request of her sorely afflicted little visitors.

Preachers Institute.

The Preachers' Institute of the Louisville Conference, M. E. Church, South, is in session at Beaver Dam this week. Rev. O. W. Hesoon, of this place, is in attendance as a member of the examining board for young preachers seeking admission to the conference. The institute began Monday and will probably conclude tomorrow. A number of the most talented preachers in the Louisville Conference are on the program. This institute is a new thing in Methodist practice, having only been held a few years.
